

In regards to the new legislation concerning email, the monitoring of it for security purposes, and mandatory federal access to private communications: please consider reading the bill of rights. If, for some reason the FCC thinks my privacy in my effects and papers does not extend to email, then I suggest that expecting citizens to obey laws derived from the constitution is futile. The FCC is not above all law. Please respect citizen's privacy concerns.